

North Carolina State Motto:

Esse Quam Videri

Literal Translation:

To be rather than to seem.

The motto is a literal translation of a phrase from a sentence in Cicero's "On Friendship" (De Amicitia, chapter 26). The complete sentence in Latin is:

Virtute enim ipsa non tam multi praediti esse quam videri volunt.

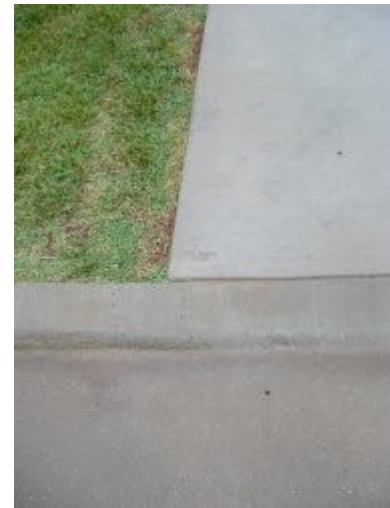

Translations:

"Fewer possess virtue, than those who wish us to believe that they possess it."

"The fact is that fewer people are endowed with virtue than wish to be thought to be so."

"Not nearly so many people want actually to be possessed of virtue as want to appear to be possessed of it."

The CC's are solely responsible for bringing the nasty side of politics to Summerfield. While their campaign tactics were based on half truths and sometimes outright lies, they played on people's pocketbooks and folks who didn't keep up or come to council meetings had no idea they were being bamboozled.

The sitting council at the time (Jane, Mike, Bob, Carolyn, Dena and Mark) was "blindsided". Since they were all just townfolk who love their town and wanted the best for Summerfield, they weren't prepared for the dirty politics and certainly weren't equipped to fight back.

You're exactly right, Crackah! I know some of us harp a lot on the negatives of the CC bunch till some folks may get tired of hearin' it. But I don't want anybody to forget what they did, how they did it, an' who they're really concerned about -- THEMSELVES AND THEIR POCKETBOOKS ONLY! Let's be absolutely clear on that last point!

I'm proud o' Jane, Mike, Bob, Carolyn, Dena and Mark an' all the other selfless citizen volunteers who are doin' what they can fer their town! And, yes they don't get as much forum time as the others, but they get our admiration fer doin' what they do. In their honor, here's a big ol'

YEE HAW!
